

Coconino National Forest Trail Guide - Kel Fox Trail

Length: 5 miles (round trip)

Rating: Moderate

Use: Moderate

Season: Anytime

Hiking time: 3 hours (round trip)

Cumulative Elevation: 500 ft. total

USGS Maps: Munds Mountain, Sedona

Location: .7 miles on Beaverhead Flat Rd (County Road 78) from SR 179.

Notes: No mechanized vehicles. .

For more information contact: Red Rock Ranger District, P.O. Box 20429, Sedona AZ 86341, (928) 203-2900

This trail lures you into remote backcountry with eye-popping scenic views of red rock cliffs overlooking the Village of Oak Creek just one short mile in from the trailhead.

Follow the 78 for 0.7 Mile and turn right on a dirt road with a cattle guard. The trailhead sits at the end of this high-clearance road that turns back eastward. Those in sedans should park where they're comfortable and hike to the trailhead.

The official trail head is on the Fuller Tank. Hike along the tank, keeping the tank on your left. After 600 yards watch for "gas pipe" markers as the trail follows these markers more or less to the end. The trail climbs a low saddle and approximately 1 mile from the trailhead suddenly the sprawling Village of Oak Creek fills the valley floor with Bell, Courthouse and Cathedral rocks looming above. The trail continues down hill to a residential street. It's anticlimactic, so unless you need the exercise, turn back after enjoying the views.

Access: Kel Fox Trailhead From the Junction of US 89A and 179 in Sedona, head south on 179 and drive about 9.5 miles to a Beaverhead Flat Rd (County Road 78) . Follow Beaverhead Flat Rd to the top of the hill and watch for the turnoff on the right approximately .7 miles from SR 179

Access: Appaloosa Dr Limited Parking and not recommended